要旨：A robbery was reported at a Wells Fargo Bank on the 3200 block of South Cobb Drive at 9:45 Thursday morning. A man reportedly came into the bank, presented a holdup note and fled after the teller gave him money. Smyrna police worked with Cobb County authorities to locate the suspect at a Kroger on the same street, the location of a robbery one day prior.

Police responded to an attempted robbery at a bank inside the same Kroger one day earlier. An employee at a Fifth Third Bank inside the Kroger called 911 Wednesday just before 12:30 p.m. reporting a man came into the 3200 block South Cobb Drive location and presented a holdup note, but left the bank before he could get any money. Police responded to the scene minutes later and were able to stop the 18-year-old from driving away. Following a short foot chase he was arrested.

Authorities were notified after a neighbor noticed the unidentified victim's truck on the side of the road with the door open and the engine running. By the time the first ransom call came in to the family the next day on July 10, county, state and federal agents were already in place. The calls demanding an undisclosed amount of money reportedly originated in Mexico. Numerous phone calls and negotiations between the Mexico-based kidnappers and what they thought were the victim's family members – but were actually federal agents – continued until Monday night. Agents searched five locations in North Carolina and at 5 a.m. Tuesday raided a house in Cumberland County, N.C., where the victim was being held. <http://www.thestate.com/2014/07/15/3566402/fbi-announces-3-arrests-following.html?sp=/99/132/154/157/>
