要旨: Authorities carried out Operation Clean Sweep starting at 6 a.m. Led by the Etowah County Sheriff's Office Drug Enforcement Unit, six teams made up of about 70 officers fanned out in search of nearly 150 people. 147 people were wanted on 275 charges. The FBI, ATF and U.S. Marshals were among 12 law enforcement agencies taking part. Of the warrants obtained, about 90 percent were for felony drug crimes, the sheriff said. The majority were for charges of unlawful possession of a controlled substance. Several warrants were for distribution and trafficking of various drugs including methamphetamine, synthetic drugs, heroin, cocaine and marijuana.

要旨： A man told investigators that his step-son was visiting friends at a home on First Place N.W. and was outside talking with a group of friends when a man pulled up. The man rolled down his window and called the teens over to his vehicle. He was reportedly dressed as a woman and told them that he was interested in having sex with each of them. The suspect then gave the victim his cell phone number and told him to call him and set up a meeting. The family notified the sheriff's office, which immediately launched an investigation and later arrested the suspect.

要旨： Fairburn police officers have been looking for a man since Tuesday, when they were dispatched to a fight on Carll Court in the Creekwood Village subdivision just before 8 p.m. Police on the scene found a man and woman seriously injured with lacerations to the face, head and neck outside a home. Both stated that the suspect was still inside the home and that he had injured them. They also told officers that the suspect was armed with an AK-47 and other firearms. A SWAT team went inside the home but did not find him. Police evacuated all of the homes around the suspect's home until the SWAT team finished. Doctors are treating the injured man and woman at a hospital. The suspect is wanted on two counts of aggravated assault, police said. He is 6 feet and 190 pounds, and has tattoos on his hands.

^{みだ}見出し : "Vehicle stolen in carjacking is electronically disabled to stop high-speed chase"

^{しんぶん}新聞 : thestate.com

^{きしゃ}記者 : Teddy Kulmala

^{ひつけ}日付 : 5/24/2017

^{ようし}要旨 : Deputies were notified just before midnight Monday that a car stolen in an armed carjacking in Charlotte was traveling rural roads into the Peak area of Newberry County and crossing into Richland County. Deputies from Newberry, Richland and Lexington counties pursued the Chevrolet Impala toward Chapin. When officers tried to stop the vehicle, the suspect took off toward Newberry County, reaching speeds of more than 100 mph. The car was equipped with OnStar, a subscription-based communications service provided by General Motors that provides vehicle users with navigation, roadside assistance and the tracking of stolen vehicles. Newberry County dispatchers were communicating with OnStar representatives throughout the chase, and it was decided to attempt "a controlled stop" of the stolen car with OnStar's help on U.S. 76 near Prosperity. Officers were in place when the vehicle was electronically disabled, and the driver was taken into custody without incident.
