要旨 : Officers received a call from a T-Mobile store located in McGowan Park in reference to a theft around 7 p.m. Employees in the store say a group of six individuals made off with five cell phones, worth a total of approximately $5,000. Witnesses told police the group left the scene in a Dodge Challenger. Officers later identified the described car in the area and a short pursuit began. The subjects occupying the vehicle abandoned the car in the lot of Hank Aaron Stadium. Inside the car, police found several cell phones, including a $1,000 phone that was taken from a Verizon in the same shopping complex.

日付 : 12/14/2017

要旨 : An inmate at Bibb Correctional Facility, has been connected to a scam that attempted to take thousands, including targeting a woman whose son had just died, authorities said. Two women, who are accused of helping Coleman with the scam, have been arrested. In the scam, someone will call claiming to be from the IRS or a law enforcement agency. The caller will tell potential victims they missed federal grand jury duty or owe money on their taxes. If the potential victim will provide over-the-phone payment of all or part of what is owed, the government won't come make an arrest. Officials have advised that these agencies generally do not call and tell you to pay them money and said anyone who receives a suspicious call should contact local law enforcement.

要旨 : The customer at the Kroger on Old National Highway was putting groceries in his car when two armed robbers walked up to him, demanded his wallet and cellphone, and pistol-whipped him, Fulton police said. The encounter started when one of the men asked the victim for his car keys and he refused, according to the report. The robber then snatched at the victim's wallet, causing it to fall. An accomplice picked it up and one of the men cocked a firearm, according to the report. The robber hit the victim on the left side of his head, police said. He started walking quickly toward the Kroger, and that's when he heard at least one gunshot and saw the grocery store window shatter, according to the police report. AZ Fulton County policeman who was nearby saw two men in gray clothes sprint across Old National Highway. The officer ran toward the victim while others searched the area for the two robbers, police said. They have not been found. Detectives are now looking at surveillance video for clues into who the robbers are. <http://www.ajc.com/news/crime--law/shopper-beaten-robbed-shot-kroger-parking-lot/kWaxS9Hnd08sJbn2A5o9ZK/>

要旨 : Just before 3 a.m., a man who was driving, called 911 and told a dispatcher that a man driving a burgundy car pulled up beside him and pointed a gun at him in the southbound lanes of Capital Blvd., near Buffaloe Road. The driver told the dispatcher that the driver was following him and the dispatcher told the driver to pull to the side of the road and let the motorist pass. The passenger in the car grew upset and twice told Wright to stop the car. Wright finally agreed to meet a police officer at the Waffle House in the 2600 block of Westinghouse Boulevard. Soon afterward, conversation gave way to loud voices, sounds of a struggle and what appeared to be gunshots. An Uber driver called 911 to report that he was about to pull into the parking lot of the Waffle House to pick up a passenger when he heard gunfire coming from a burgundy-colored car. The driver said that the shooting happened between the BP gas station and the Waffle House, according to the 911 recording. Emergency workers transported both shooting victims to WakeMed, where one died, police said.
