要旨: Four people are sought in a robbery at a Birmingham business during which shots were fired and a witness was struck by one of the suspects.

The holdup happened Thursday, May 9, at Metro PCS on Avenue F in Ensley. The suspects brandished weapons at an employee and a customer and demanded money. They then gathered money from the register and fled on foot eastbound toward an alley. An armed citizen outside the store confronted the suspects and fired at them. As he chased them on foot, he was hit by a vehicle driven by a fourth suspects. Investigators determined that vehicle had

^{ようし}要旨 : Reportedly, land in Alabama has been linked to a terrorist training camp in New Mexico where malnourished children alleged they were trained to commit shootings. The information emerged in an FBI search warrant, according to the station. The land, located in Macon County, is reportedly owned by Siraj Wahhaj. The man lived on a compound in New Mexico last year with several adults and children who said they were training to commit mass shootings. A federal grand jury indicted five adults living in the New Mexico compound on terrorism, kidnapping and firearms violations in March. <https://www.al.com/news/2019/05/reports-terrorist-training-camp-found-in-alabama.html>

要旨 : Two men are in federal custody after they tried to pick up a package that had been dropped off by FedEx at a Jackson County home Wednesday. That package was supposed to contain 33 kilograms (nearly 73 pounds) of methamphetamine, the sheriff's office said in a news release. However, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security had already intercepted it in another state last Monday, sending a decoy package in its place. Both suspects were taken to the Jackson County Jail until Friday, which is when they were turned over to Homeland Security agents, the release said.

要旨 : A 1-year-old child was shot in the head Sunday while playing with a 3-year-old sibling in a North Carolina home, the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office said. Deputies responded to a Lincolnton home just before noon after getting a call about a baby being shot, according to reports. The children's father told deputies he was outside smoking when he "heard a loud pop," he ran inside and he and his wife found the children in their bedroom. The 1-year-old was injured as the bullet grazed the child's head, but it is believed the bullet did not penetrate the skull. The child was taken to an area hospital for treatment.

要旨 : A North Carolina teacher is accused of storing a student's gun in her classroom. The Winston-Salem Journal reports that a Paisley Magnet School teacher was arrested Monday and charged with helping a minor possess a firearm on educational property. Winston-Salem police say a student told the teacher about the gun and gave it to her last month and she allowed the student to pick it up at the end of the day. The arrest comes as authorities investigate reports of a gun at the school last week. Police say the same weapon was involved in both incidents and charges are being sought against the initial juvenile and another who also possessed the gun on campus. <https://www.newsobserver.com/latest-news/article230370979.html>

要旨： A teenager has been arrested on murder charges, among other crimes, following the shooting deaths of two people in an apartment, the Columbia Police Department said on Monday. The suspect is charged with two counts of murder, armed robbery and first-degree burglary, police said in a news release. The people killed were fatally wounded in the upper body. The shooting happened Saturday night at 221 Skyland Drive. The suspect had a male accomplice during the crime that occurred after 10 p.m., and police are still searching for the second suspect. Police believe the motive for the shooting was armed robbery. The suspect is believed to have been wounded in the shooting when a victim returned gunfire during the armed robbery, as he showed up at an area hospital soon after the fatal shootings, police said in the news release. <https://www.thestate.com/news/local/crime/article230360669.html>
